WHAT DOES 'GOOD' REVISION LOOK LIKE?

We want our students to be actively revising at home and not reverting back to the passive revision techniques of the past.

Period 1 sessions have been focussed on making our year 11 students effective, life-long learners and have explored skills around Cornell note taking, flashcards and planned practice.

If your student doesn't know where to start, encourage them to try some of the activities mentioned below:

- 👤 Complete a timed response for a practice paper or question. Then, use a mark scheme or your exercise book/booklet to make corrections and improvements.
- 👤 Create a plan for a past question and discuss the plan with a peer or teacher. Check the plan against your class notes and add anything that may have been missed.
- 👤 Watch a YouTube video on a difficult topic and create a page of Cornell notes. Then, turn these notes into flashcards and self-quiz.
- 👤 Self-quiz on key topics and use class notes to check answers.

AFTER THE MOCK EXAMS

- 👤 Continued GCSE mindset sessions.
- 👤 Question level analysis provided in some subjects to support more focused revision.
- 👤 Feedback lessons based on class weaknesses from the mock exam.
